Spot of tea Anyone?

The custom of drinking tea originated in England in 1661, when Catherine of Braganza married Charles II. VW's HQ targeted by Storm Troopers from environmental group

THE force was with these Storm Troopers as they protested outside Volkswagen's headquarters yesterday.

Greenpeace members took to the site in Blakelands as part of a global action against the car company's opposition to 'key environmental laws'. The organisation has created a spoof video of the Star Wars themed Volkswagen advert in which Darth Vader is confronted by other youngsters dressed up as Star Wars characters and viewers are asked to 'Join the Rebellion'.

To watch the video go to www.vwdarkside.com

A VW spokesman said: "We have been surprised by the criticisms levelled by Greenpeace. Talks were held between us and Greenpeace about two weeks ago. In an email sent by Greenpeace to the VW press office, Greenpeace made positive comments on Volkswagen's progress in reducing CO2 emissions."

No ifs, no butts – town asked to outlaw ciggies

BY ADAM GRINSELL

adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

A TOWN could soon become non-smoking as one councillor bids to ban the butts.

Alderman Paul Bartlett (left), who sits on Stony Stratford Town Council, is calling for a street smoking ban in an effort to stop litter louts from throwing cigarette butts on to the streets of the historic town, and to 'make the environment cleaner'.

Cllr Bartlett hopes to do this with a by-law, and will be lobbying the town council to support the creation of a law at its next meeting in July.

He said: "Why should people have the freedom to smoke in my face, pass on diseases and spoil the environment?

"When you walk through the high street in any town smoke is in your face and harming you and any children there.

"Smokers then get their butt, which is full of saliva, and chuck it on the floor.

"It costs millions to clear street rubbish, and goodness knows what a child could pick up from them."

He said the ban, if enforced, could be policed by community support officers, traffic wardens and even members of the public.

When asked if he was worried he would be alienating a large percentage of the population with such a move, he said: "If I make the environment cleaner and save on council tax then so be it, sometimes you have to take the bull by the horns."

In May the Mayor of New York banned smoking in the city's parks and on its beaches, and Cllr Bartlett, who is not a smoker himself, believes if it can work there it can work in Stony Stratford, and feels it could attract business to the town.

But not everyone in the town agrees the plan is a good idea.

Jenny Miller, who lives in Deanshanger but works in Stony Stratford, said: "I think it's scandalous, where do they expect us to smoke if we can't smoke outside?

"I don't live here so I can't nip home for a smoke.

"It's bad enough without a ban in the street.

"Look at all the business and pubs closing down because of the smoking ban - is that what the Government wants?"

Family's appeal to bring Amin's killer to justice

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

A 'DEVASTATED' family has appealed for help to find the killer of the two teenagers gunned down in Fishermead.

The sisters and uncle of 18-year-old Amin Ahmed Ismail paid an emotional tribute to him as they asked the public for help to catch his killers.

His mother and father were not able to attend as both have been taken ill since the news of his death on Thursday, May 27, after he and his friend Mohamed Abdi Farah, 19, were shot in the head in an alleyway on the estate.

Sister Anisa Ahmed Ismail said: "He was my only brother and it's devastated my mother and sisters. My father's health has deteriorated badly.

"He was growing up to become the man of the house, and his aim was to provide for his family.

"He was a loving brother, he'd never been involved with drugs and never drank alcohol.

"I think of him every day and night, I think of him before I go to sleep and he's on my mind when I wake up."

She believes there's someone out there who knows what happened, and pleaded with them to get in touch with the police.

Munira Ahmed Ismail, one of Amin Ahmed Ismail's sisters breaks down at a police press conference

Detective Superintendent Rob Mason said there are ways for the police to protect the identities of those who come forward with information.

He added: "This was always going to be a difficult case, I remain confident, and very certain someone out there has significant information for us."

So far five people remain on police bail, with four having been released from their bail last week.

Anyone with information should call Thames Valley Police on 0845 8 505 505.

Victim forced to hand over phone and wallet at knifepoint

A MAN was robbed at knifepoint last Wednesday.

At about 12.30am, the victim was walking in the underpass between Sainsbury's and Oldbrook on H6 Childs Way, when he was approached by two men, one of whom threatened him with a kitchen knife and demanded his wallet.

The wallet was searched and handed back to the man.

The victim's mobile phone then rang, which prompted the man with the knife to demand for it to be handed over. He handed over his phone, a black HTC mobile, and the offenders made off in direction of Oldbrook. The victim was not injured during the incident.

The man with the knife is black, 5ft 8ins, very slim, with short hair and a beard covering only his chin. He was wearing dark denim jeans, a dark coloured T-shirt and rubber or plastic gloves. The second man is black, 5ft 8ins, slim, and had plaited hair close to his skull. He wore a silver chain.

Both men spoke to each other in English and another language.

If you have any information about the incident, contact DC Wendy Cissell on 0845 8 505 505, or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

Teachers to rally together against pension plans

TEACHERS will stage a rally in Campbell Park tomorrow to protest about Government pension proposals which will see schools across the city close.

They are upset at plans which they say will mean they work for longer and pay more.

The Government has been in talks with National Union of Teachers (NUT), the Association of Teachers and Lecturers (ATL), the University and College Union and the Public and Commercial Services (PCS) union in a bid to halt the industrial action.

Schools that have given notice to the council that they will be closing are Bushfield, Cedars Primary, Langland Community, Loughton Manor, Priory Rise, Heronsgate, Cold Harbour CE, Holmwood, Lavendon and Shepherdswell.

At Brooksward School there will be a partial closure for all Key Stage Two classes, as well as Dragonflies and Minnows. Stantonbury Campus will also be closed, but the Army trip and Year Ten work experience will continue.

Year Three children will be the only class to be taught at Two Mile Ash tomorrow.

PCS members will be striking as well which will affect court services, the job centre and Hanslope Park.

Milton Keynes NUT representative Graham Hussey said: "There is a very strong NUT presence in the primary and middle schools so they are more likely to be affected by closures.

"The action is down to Government proposed changes which will make teachers pay 50 per cent more into their pension but then receiving reduced payment at the end. There is also a move to change the retirement age from 65 to 68 and as my students were telling me yesterday that will affect their children.

"People don't want to be taught by a 68-year-old, teaching is more and more a young person's job."

Kevin Towl, ATL organiser for the Midlands region, said: "Traditionally it's a moderate union, and has never had a national strike in its 125-year history.

"We are happy for the action to not go ahead as long as they open public negotiations, and take the unilateral increase in contributions off the table.

"If that doesn't happen, we hope people will see that we want to sit down and negotiate."

There will be a rally in Campbell Park tomorrow at 12pm.

Teenage girl suffers sex attack on Redway

A SIXTEEN-YEAR-OLD girl was sexually assaulted on a Redway on Sunday.

The incident happened in Heelands at around 1pm as the girl was walking by Station Drive, when a man rode past her on a bike.

The man stopped his bike and approached her, asking her for a kiss.

The victim said no and the man put his hands down her top and into her bra, touching her inappropriately.

The offender then rode off in the direction of the nearby shops.

The man is Asian, in his early 20s, around 5ft 4ins and average build.

He had short black hair, bushy eyebrows, and a bent nose as if it had been broken.

He was wearing a blue T-shirt with white on the front, and dark jogging bottoms with a white line up both legs.

PC James Punter said: "Fortunately the girl was not injured in this incident, but has understandably been left very shaken and upset.

"I am appealing for anyone who was in the area of Heelands on Sunday afternoon and saw a man matching the description of the offender, or anyone with any information about the incident to contact me."

Anyone with any information should call 0845 8 505 505 or call Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

'Be prepared' for action should you use Scouts name

BY SOPHIE SCOTT
editor@mk-news.co.uk

Alan McKinnon, who is annoyed at being accused of being militaristic

A PROGRAMME to teach kids about teamwork has been forced to change its name by the Scouts.

Alan McKinnon, who started up Urban Scouts MK in February and already has 120 members, received a letter from The Scouts Association (TSA) lawyers warning him to change the name.

Urban Scouts, which is described as a cross between scouts, army cadets and XBox games, allows eight to 14-year-olds to take part in a one hour weekly 'boot camp' where they will do basic PE exercise and learn things like first aid, before heading outdoors to play with new, high-tec Laser Tag guns.

Since receiving the letter on June 14 he has now changed the name to Special Ops MK in a move which he thinks will have cost him up to £1,000.

In a letter from the legal department of TSA he is told: 'TSA strongly objects to your use of the word Scouts in either your name, logo and literature because coupled with the target group of your business, it is highly likely to continue causing confusion to both our members and to the public at large.'

It goes on to say: 'Scouting is the largest youth organisation in the world working for peace and the militaristic approach by your organisation in both activities is at odds with the Scouting ethos and your activities/approach are bringing and/or likely to bring our name and reputation into disrepute.'

Mr McKinnon disputed this claim citing that the Scouts have roots in the military as the founder Robert Baden-Powell came up with the idea following his experiences in the Boer War.

He said: "I've had to rename Urban Scouts MK to Special Ops MK.

I think by the time I've changed everything it will have cost me up to £1,000.

"To be honest, I wouldn't have minded so much if they had been as nice about the whole thing as I thought they were.

"Accusing us of being militaristic is what annoyed me the most. We are about building up teamwork.

"The kids don't have a 'military' uniform, some of them choose to come dressed like that, you know what kids are like.

"They are taught leadership, first aid, navigation skills, among others. We are cool, unlike the Scouts which they think is nerdy.

"But saying we are militaristic when their founder fought in the Boer War and one of their 'Chief Scouts' is Bear Grylls who regularly kills animals on TV is ridiculous."

The Scouts declined to comment.

Travelling this weekend? Remember the Foo Fighters

MOTORISTS and other road users are being reminded to consider the Foo Fighters concert at the National Bowl when making travel plans this weekend.

Local road closures, diversions and speed limits will be put in place as part of a traffic management plan.

The traffic restrictions will be mainly in place from 6am on Saturday to 4am on Monday, and are necessary for public safety reasons while the concert is being set up, during the event itself, and to allow clearing away after the event.

Advance information signs will be placed on the major roads affected by the control measures a few days before the concert takes place, and marshals will be in attendance throughout the event to assist the public as necessary.

■ Full information about road diversions and traffic restrictions is available on www.miltonkeynes.gov.uk/foofighters.

Call for a return of the free, no time-limit parking bays

SIR - I read with interest John Bint's letter in last week's MK NEWS and welcome his initiatives to make amends for the previous administration's changes to CMK parking.

However, when he writes 'some 600-plus spaces reverting from red tariff (but effectively empty) to purple (and hopefully full)', I fear that his hopes fly in the face of current evidence to the contrary.

Most people will remember the free all day parking along North Row in CMK and how drivers would wait for a vacant space to become available.

Since January, these spaces are empty. Two weeks ago, I counted one car in North Row on the V8 side of Secklow Gate. Obviously the red zone spaces are virtually empty as well.

So welcome as the change of red to purple might be, I can see no reason to suppose that the take up of these spaces will be any greater, given the vast number of empty purple spaces already available. The estates will continue to be infiltrated by long-term parkers wishing to avoid parking charges.

Cllr Bint's proposed solution will not solve the situation.

What we really want is a return to where we were before January - a good number of free, no time-limit parking spaces in CMK. Anything else is just tinkering with the issue.

I am quite confident that, in a year, if the only changes made are those indicated by Cllr Bint, North Row and CMK will continue to have the same number of empty parking spaces and estate residents will continue to suffer the increase in 'visitor' parking.

John Ferguson
Sent by e-mail

Councillor's traffic proposal contradicts party ideology

SIR - I find it slightly ironic that a Conservative councillor, John Bint, should consider lower charges, in effect a hidden subsidy from public funds, as a way of solving a traffic problem: that of parking (MK News June 22).

This use of incentives is in stark contrast to the ideologically-driven attitude of his party, both locally throughout the UK and nationally, towards subsidies where they are most needed, i.e. for public transport.

Look no further than straight across the page from the letters column and there is a staggering example of this(p5 22/06/11 'On track for a hike in annual rail fares') a report on the ever more exorbitant fares being forced on the country's long-suffering rail passengers.

Frederick Toates
Tinkers Bridge

Lamppost money-saving scheme not the brightest

SIR - It would seem to me that Milton Keynes Council is spending money to save less money.

The street lighting around Beanhill, noted to be the worst estate in Milton Keynes, is being turned off to save money.

How can this save money? You need to pay a lamppost man to cut off the light. Then you pay for signs to be made saying lighting not in use. This sign is then put up by another man.

How much does all this cost?

These lights are low power use and use less energy than the lights we use in our homes.

If we did not need these lights the council could have saved more money by not putting them up at a great cost to the taxpayers.

Save money by all means but think about it first.

Development has caused huge upheaval to village

SIR - Having looked at the proposed development on Stantonbury and the campus, it seems that not only will the residents living nearby have a major upheaval in their lives but a lot of questions need to be addressed.

Firstly how will people with children, at both first and middle school, be able to get to the schools and how safe will the kids be coming home from the middle school?

Also the impact of the residents of Stantonbury, while the building work is going on, the rest of the estate has been left to rot by the council.

The houses used to be painted, now they are dirty and mouldy, the footpaths are a disgrace and some of the houses have structural cracks (mine has some and has even been underpinned).

So is there a hidden agenda? Will the council come clean and tell us why they have left our estate to fall into decay or is the new buildings just the start of a proper regeneration?

Grace Quinn
Member of Stantonbury Tenants Action Group

Smaller bins will help take rubbish from off the floor

SIR - After reading the report about the state of the bins in Laxfield Drive, I thought I should add my view to the mix.

I also live in Broughton and this matter is not just confined to this road, it is widespread across the estate.

It does not seem like any thought was put into the design of the streets and the access for bin men to the bin sheds. And once again the ugly head of 'elf and safety is reared up by the council. Why must they always use this excuse?

All they need to do is give residents slightly smaller bins which pose no 'threat' to its staff to move but which take the rubbish off the floor.

With the weather as hot and sticky as it has been the past few days, there is no doubt rats and other such creatures will start to come out and hang around by the bins.

The council needs to pull its finger out and sort this disgusting problem out.

Name and address supplied from Broughton

Time to act now or traveller numbers will grow again

SIR - I see once again travellers have descended upon Milton Keynes.

Are we to start seeing them all again in the numbers they once were many years ago when they would park along the grid roads every summer? I hope the council stop this before it becomes a problem again.

I would like to know from the council how many tickets were issued to those camping out in the car park? I parked not far away from where the travellers were and I was just two minutes late to my car and I was hit with a £25 fine.

There were a lot of cars and vans parked outside the designated bays – surely that constitutes a fine?

From what I can gather, no travellers were issued with tickets. Is it one rule for one and another rule for another?

Stephen Yorke

Increase in rail fares is not reflected in the service

SIR - I travel from Milton Keynes to London every day for work and with the way things are going I am going to have to take a massive loan out to fund my travel.

I moved to Milton Keynes as house prices were relatively cheaper than London and its suburbs and I could still save on transport.

This is no longer the case. I pay thousands of pounds every year to sit on a crammed, dirty, normally late train.

Is the increase in fares going to make the trains run more efficiently or provide more services so I can actually get to sit down on the journey? Of course it isn't.

An angry commuter
Stuck on the train

Amount of ways to recycle is getting too confusing

SIR - I read with interest in last week's MK NEWS that battery recycling is to be introduced in Milton Keynes.

Obviously recycling is to be applauded but it seems to me that there must be an easier way to do it.

We will all be given yellow bags to put the batteries in and these will of course sit alongside our pink and black bags, as well as the green wheely bins which sit outside.

How long until we have a bag to match every colour in the rainbow?

The worry is that the whole process will become too confusing and that people will just dump all of their rubbish in the same bag.

I hope the council is exploring options such as ecodeco plants, which break down all waste into five reusable components.

This means everything can be put in the same bag, and it's a fact that more people will recycle if it's easier for them to do so.

£20m stamps to go under hammer

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

A UNIQUE stamp collection put together by a city philanthropist is going up for sale – and is expected to fetch £20 million.

Currently held in more than 80 albums, The Chartwell Collection, collated by former Velcro chairman and Stoke Goldington resident Sir Cyril Humphrey Cripps (right), is considered to be one of the finest collections ever assembled.

Stamps going under the hammer include an elusive Post Office Mauritius twopenny blue (far right top), which is expected to sell for up to £500,000 on its own, and an 1840 Penny Black (far right bottom).

Being sold by London auctioneers Spink, and spread across nine different auctions, the first sale took place yesterday and the last is expected to take place in December 2012.

Olivier Stocker, chairman and CEO of Spink, said: "The Chartwell Collection is, without a shadow of a doubt, one of the biggest 'wow' moments we have ever experienced here at Southampton Row.

"It was wonderful to see the faces of the Spink team as treasure after treasure was revealed."

Sir Humphrey, who died in 2000, had his interest in stamps sparked in the 1950s when his son, Robert, received an album from an uncle.

Robert said: "I remember dad and I going to London to visit stamp shops on the Strand where he bought me a standard catalogue.

"I left it at home in my wardrobe when I returned to school. When I came home around eight months later the album was gone.

"Dad had become a stamp collector."

Sir Humphrey was educated in Northampton, before joining and eventually taking over his father's firm, Pianoforte Supplies Limited, and going on to establish The Cripps Foundation in 1956 to give gifts to universities, colleges, schools, churches, hospitals and museums.

Counterfeit trader pays price with jail sentence

A STALL trader has been jailed for selling counterfeit footcare goods in the city centre.

The conviction came as a result of a raid by Milton Keynes Council's trading standards service.

Haron Nori, 26, of Hayes, Middlesex, was sentenced to four months in prison at Huntingdon Crown Court on Friday after having previously pleaded guilty at Peterborough Crown Court in May to multiple counterfeiting offences under the Trade Marks Act 1994.

The court heard Nori had been spotted selling fakes from his stall at Xscape in Central Milton Keynes and during a raid by trading standards officers was caught with a large quantity of fake footcare Ped Eggs.

Nori also forfeited a total of £2,320 cash seized from him by trading standards under the Proceeds of Crime Act 2002 and the court ordered that all of the stock seized from him be destroyed.

Karen Ford, head of trading standards for Milton Keynes Council, said: "This sentence is a strong deterrent to anyone who thinks that they can make a quick buck by selling illegal and shoddy goods in Milton Keynes.

"This action sends a clear message to our residents and businesses that we will do all we can to protect and support legitimate enterprise here at the same time."

College picks up a coveted Premier Badminton accolade

BADMINTON stars of the future at Milton Keynes College have been given a boost by the sports' governing body.

The college is now one of only ten in the country to have been awarded Premier Badminton status by Badminton England, and the first in the local area.

Premier status recognises colleges which back high quality learning, teaching and coaching programmes and can demonstrate the best practice in nurturing young talent.

Ollie Jordan, Further Education Sports Co-ordinator at the College, said: "The college's Badminton Academy was established three years ago and has helped many student players achieve their full potential in the sport."

Soprano Cheryl Hawkins sings as Sian Edwards conducts the audience at the first Last Night event at MK Theatre

Prom-goers take chance to rehearse techniques

THEATRE-goers had a chance to brush up on their high notes and practise their flag-waving on Friday night.

As the summer proms season is set to start Milton Keynes City Orchestra gave a packed house at MK Theatre a taste of the Last Night of the Proms before it even gets underway.

In the first proms-type concert by the orchestra they stuck to true London proms tradition as conductor Sian Edwards introduced two new works in amongst the well know pieces.

The two pieces Fast Colours by Anthony Powers and Juno by Mark-Anthony Turnage, both premieres, nestled in beside Shostakovich and Tchaikovsky during the first half of the programme.

After the interval soprano Cheryl Hawkins lead the audience as they jollied their way through Jerusalem, flag waved during Pomp and Circumstance before raising the roof with Rule Britannia.

To close Cheryl was again in full voice as Sian conducted the patriotic standing assembled throng in a rendition of The National Anthem.

Council 'surprised and disappointed' over appeal loss

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

THE council has had to shell out £7,000 in legal costs after failing in a fly-tipping appeal at the High Court.

In August last year, Milton Keynes Council took farmers Darren Fuller and Christopher McVeigh to the magistrates' court alleging the two were guilty of illegally depositing controlled waste, which included asbestos, on the grass verge on Watling Street outside their pea field at Kiln Farm.

It sought to prosecute them for a breach of the 1990 Environmental Protection Act, with potential punishments as severe as 12 months in prison and a £50,000 fine.

But the case was dismissed by magistrates when they found Mr Fuller and Mr McVeigh did not 'deposit' the waste within the meaning of the act.

Mr Fuller argued he had reported the fly-tipping, which had blocked access to the field, to the council on July 7 last year, but knew from past experience it would not be moved within the next day.

He instructed Mr McVeigh to use a forklift truck to move enough of the rubbish to allow access to the field for vital crop-spraying to take place.

On Thursday the council attempted to revive the prosecution at London's High Court, but the appeal was rejected.

Lord Justice Aikens said: "In my view, in this case there is no question of law involved in the interpretation of the ordinary and uncomplicated English word deposit.

To my mind the justices' conclusion that the act of the respondents did not amount to a deposit was a perfectly reasonable one."

He said there may be other cases where a second movement of waste could amount to a deposit, but each case should be treated on its facts.

The judge ordered the council to pay £7,000 towards Mr Fuller and Mr McVeigh's legal costs.

The court heard a council contractor had to remove two large piles of rubbish, including corrugated sheeting, tyres and fencing panels, and it took three or four men almost 60 hours to complete the work.

A council spokesman said: "We are surprised and disappointed by the result."

Review urged after stove flat fire death

BY DAN PALMER
dan.palmer@mk-news.co.uk

A CORONER has urged Milton Keynes Council to review how it assesses vulnerable adults following the tragic death of a disabled man in a flat fire.

Richard Michie (right), 44, was killed in the blaze at his home in Boundary Crescent in Stony Stratford on December 20 which was caused by a gas camping stove.

His electricity had been cut off for safety reasons on November 19 after police raided and discovered 50 to 60 cannabis plants, but his supply was never restored.

On the night he died he was using the stove to try to keep warm in plummeting temperatures.

Mr Michie was known by the council and had previously been discharged from Adult Social Care Services, with no further referrals made after 2009.

His three day inquest, which ended on Friday, heard that he had been in touch with the council about his electricity and had been referred to his supplier, Scottish and Southern Energy.

When contacting them he was told he would need to send in £200 and a wiring safety certificate which he never provided.

Coroner Tom Osborne said many had tried to help Mr Michie but no-one had taken the responsibility for actually doing so, and that he could only guess his frustrations.

He used Rule 43 to make his recommendation to the council, a power which allows coroners to report certain circumstances which could lead to further deaths.

Mr Osborne (above) also asked gas and electricity regulator OFGEM to review the procedure which led to a vulnerable person's electricity being disconnected.

A council statement said: "We were saddened by Mr Michie's death.

"At this stage we are awaiting the coroner's report along with his full set of questions, to which we will respond formally and in full."

Lessons learned from drugs raid inquest

THE findings from the inquest into the death of Richard Michie could feed into national policing policy.

During the course of the inquest, Thames Valley Police's Chief Inspector Phil Standish said findings from this case, along with other research, could feed into policing policy with regards to information left for residents after a drugs raid on their property.

He said: "As police officers we are not professionals in electricity and we need to utilise experts, we need to make the premises safe.

"We are reliant upon the utility company to make the tactical decision to make the premises safe, and it's the responsibility of the householder to make the reconnection.

"I think from what I've seen, officers have been very keen to give that advice."

He is looking at developing a Notice to Occupier, which would be left after a raid in which the electricity was disconnected, to ensure there is no confusion for the occupant as to what has happened, and they understand it is their responsibility to have the electricity turned back on.

He added: "This will enable us as far as practicable to inform the occupant of what's happened.

"I will ensure that the conclusion to this case is that this process is considered by other forces."

Bright spark hopes to generate profits

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

Live wire: Stephen Norrish from the Christian Foundation in Wolverton

AN ELECTRIC idea could spark the interest of a town's community.

Investors are being sought for a new co-operative electricity company, which has been created with the idea of allowing people to get involved with generating green energy who might not otherwise be able to afford it.

The Wolverton Electricity Company, set up by the Milton Keynes Christian Foundation, is in its early stages, and the organisers are now looking for people to get involved before its first meeting in a few weeks.

Stephen Norrish, co-director at the foundation, said: "From talks we were having with a few local people about using solar panels, it became clear that because Wolverton is a conservation area and the way the streets are aligned, it would be difficult for people to do much themselves.

"We were looking to do something on our own roof, so we decided to set up the company."

Those interested would be asked to buy a share in the company, the value of which will be decided in the initial meetings, with the money being invested in the solar panels to be put on the roof of the foundation's building.

Shareholders will then make money from the electricity generated after the running costs have been covered, with similar projects having returns of around six to eight per cent. Mr Norrish added: "We want this to be as inclusive as possible.

"It doesn't have to be people from Wolverton, but this local project will encourage people to get together which will create other benefits for the community."

‘Massive victory’ if grid system gets green light

BY SOPHIE SCOTT
editor@mk-news.co.uk

A PROPOSAL which will make sure all future developments incorporate the grid system has been welcomed by a lobby group.

Chairman of Urban Eden Theo Chalmers said a decision by Milton Keynes Council is a ‘massive victory’ for the group which aims to promote the original masterplan of the city.

Portfolio holder for transport and highways Cllr John Bint has stated the council’s intention to make sure the road system continues how it was started, rather than going in to ‘city streets’.

Last week, MK News reported how Cllr Sam Crooks wants changes to be made to Countess Way to make it safer, as it is not clear that it is a 30mph road since it appears to be a continuation of 70mph H7 Chaffron Way.

Proposals for the development of the west of the city do not, at the moment, extend V4 and H2, among others, and could be built as city streets.

Mr Chalmers said: “This is our most important victory to date, assuming it will be delivered.

“Countess Way for example should have been a grid road from the beginning. We have lobbied for four years now and the biggest area to the western expansion area is 858 acres. If it didn’t have grid roads it would be completely cut off and it would destroy the areas they crossed. This is a massive breakthrough, we are absolutely thrilled.”

Theo Chalmers

Cllr Bint said: “There was a policy put into force by the previous adminstration that city streets were a good idea and it was taken that way until now when they have been proved to be a bad idea.

“The council needs to negotiate with the other landowners to get their agreement to as many of the changes as we would like as possible.”

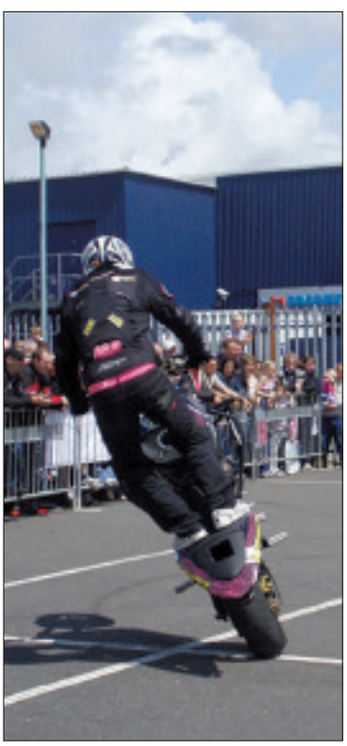
Motorcycles roll into city for annual Big Bike show



BEFORE the mini heatwave at the weekend, the city was hotting up for entirely different reasons.

Motorserv Ltd, in Old Wolverton, brought a welcome hot spot to Milton Keynes on Saturday, June 18, with the Big Bikes and Bits Show, now in its fourth year.

On hand to chat to the crowds were representatives from NGK plugs, the lovely Mel handing out goodie bags, and Matt from riding school Learn2Ride was talking people through the motorcycle test and championing motorcycling, as well as encouraging current bikers on to the enhanced rider scheme.

One of the biggest attractions on the day was the wheelie machine – a Kawasaki Ninja fixed to a machine that allowed you to pop a wheelie without the danger of falling off – as well as the StuntXtreme motorcycle stunt show.

Silverstone Motorcycles were on hand with some of the latest models from their Kawasaki and Victory models, and there were also representatives from Oxford Products, Alpinestars and Ixon Clothing.

They were showing off the latest ranges available now at Motorserv, which had its own team on hand with some great offers on the day and lots of good advice for anyone with queries on anything bike related.

Fire authority needs help to cut spending

BY SOPHIE SCOTT
editor@mk-news.co.uk

NEARLY £5 million needs to be cut from the fire service over the next three years and the authority wants to hear from you how to do it.

Buckinghamshire and Milton Keynes Fire Authority last week published its public consultation which asks people to comment on possible changes.

By the 2014/15 financial year, the authority will need to make savings of £4.8 million.

Some of its options to do that include to review the number and location of aerial platforms and their crewing arragements.

Another review will be of the full-time firefighter cover at day crewed stations. Newport Pagnell is one of the four crewed between 9am-6pm, every day, with night cover provided on an on-call basis.

It will also look at wholetime appliances that are crewed by full-time firefighters 24 hours a day, 365 days a year and how many they need in the future. This includes the stations in Broughton, Great Holm and Bletchley.

Buckinghamshire County Councillor David Rowlands, chairman of the fire authority, said: "The good news is that we have said there will be no station closures and that at the moment nobody will be made redundant but any reduction in staff will be via natural wastage.

"We will be exploring more flexible and new ways of working. For example we will be reviewing day crews at stations. We will be looking at those arrangements."

The closing date for responses is 9am on August 30.

Buckinghamshire & Milton Keynes Fire Authority will consider the feedback at its meeting on September 28.

Art stars of the future given solo exhibitions

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

TWO budding art students will be showcasing their work in solo exhibitions at MK Gallery as part of a new initiative to promote promising young artists.

Tillie Fine and Spike Wyn De-Bank, both 19, who are studying foundation diplomas at Milton Keynes College, beat competition from more experienced students from across the region including honours undergraduates and those doing their masters.

They will now each have a solo display for a week in the gallery's project space in autumn.

Spike, from New Bradwell, said: "I was elated when I found out. It was really nice to get the opportunity to display my work in a platform like that before going to university."

Tillie is planning to go to Aberystwyth University to study fine art, and feels an exhibition like this will help with contacts and future shows.

She said: "At first I didn't realise it was a solo exhibition – it's such a big thing at this stage, so I'm very excited."

The pair are also part of a huge summer Art and Design Exhibition taking place next week at Middleton Hall, thecentre:mk, from today until July 3.

The annual event will showcase a collection of work from MK College students studying a variety of courses including graphic design, interior design, crafts, photography, fine arts, drawing, painting, sculpture and fashion.

Safety concerns over road lights switch off

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

THE city's grid road lights should stay switched on to prevent any accidents.

That is the view of the Milton Keynes Labour Group, which is planning to lobby the Conservative administration to try to reverse the switch off.

As part of the budget cuts in February, councillors voted to switch off all 'non-essential' grid road lighting, which means all those lights not coving roundabouts, junctions, bus stops or redways, in an effort to save almost £400,000.

Those lights are all expected to be off by Friday, but at the next full council meeting on July 12, Labour councillor Steve Coventry will be asking the new administration to rethink the policy.

He said: "Driving along Saxon Street at about 9.30pm, I was surprised how dark it was due to the grid road lights being off. This is making the grid roads dangerous.

"The summer light evenings help a bit. In winter these grid roads will be really dark and dangerous. This is a major safety issue.

"The saving is relatively small given the council turnover is about £1billion, however a single death or serious injury could destroy a family's life. It's just not worth the risk."

Conservative transport councillor John Bint said he personally feels safe driving on the dark roads, but has an open mind if a safety assessment finds otherwise.

He added: "I've asked the assistant director for a briefing about how much money is supposed to be saved, if we are on course for the savings and his assessment on any safety impact."

ALL HANDS ON DECK: Overall winners Pistficated Pirates celebrate their win on Willen Lake

An oar-some day to paddle on the lake

OVER 1200 paddlers competed in the sunshine at the tenth Milton Keynes Dragon Boat Festival on Sunday.

Fifty-nine crews took to the water at Willen Lake and raced in front of an estimated 12,000 spectators.

The teams represented businesses, organisations and groups from across the city and the eventual winners were a crew representing Ian Smith Construction and Pell Frischmanne. They were the fastest team throughout the day and were also a mixed team, which required a minimum of seven women.

In a fantastic final they edged out Wheldon 5 '0' from Wheldon Contracts into second.

Organisers Gable Events have hailed the day as a 'spectacular success'.

HEARTBREAK: Alan and Laura Terry have been told they are ineligible to have IVF treatment

Couple's baby hopes dashed by IVF refusal

BY SOPHIE SCOTT
editor@mk-news.co.uk

A COUPLE have spoken out after they were denied IVF treatment.

Laura and Alan Terry, of Galley Hill, Stony Stratford, have been trying to conceive for a number of years after their daughter was stillborn in 2003.

Laura had polycystic ovaries removed in 2009 which lessened her chance of conceiving naturally and Alan, 54, was diagnosed with prostate cancer the same year. His sperm was frozen as the treatment has made him infertile.

Laura, 26, has been told that she is too young to be considered for treatment while Alan has two adult children.

Two weeks ago, we reported that the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) says that women should be given up to three cycles on the NHS when they are aged between 23 and 39.

However, at Milton Keynes Hospital women are only eligible for the treatment between the ages of 30 and 34.

Mrs Terry said: "My husband has two children from a previous marriage but we don't have the chance to have our own children.

"We have appealed the decision but they said because of my age and because of Alan's children, they won't fund it.

"I am devastated, if we can't have IVF I won't be able to be a mother."

A hospital spokeswoman said: "NHS Milton Keynes does not comment on individual cases.

"The organisation has a shared policy on IVF with all nine PCTs in South Central Region. The policy has clear eligibility criteria, including a single age range for IVF eligibility (30 to 34 years for females). Unfortunately, couples who have any children from a previous relationship are not eligible for funding for IVF treatment."

Council votes to keep HiMO rules

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

DIRECTIONS put in place to prevent landlords converting their homes into Houses in Multiple Occupation (HiMOs) without permission are to continue.

The Article 4 directions, which remove landlords' powers to create a HiMO without council planning permission and which were put into place in December, were due to lapse at the end of this month, but on Thursday councillors voted for them to continue.

The directions were enforced in response to new Government legislation, imposed in October, which removed any planning control councils in the UK had over landlords wishing to create HiMOs.

Milton Keynes Council went to the High Court in April to try to overturn this legislation, but after failing in that bid it is now awaiting a court date to make an appeal against the decision.

After a fire at a HiMO in Fishermead in September in which Bola Ejifunmilayo and her three-year-old daughter Fiyin died, HiMOs were recently thrust into the limelight again.

At an emergency meeting in Fishermead at the beginning of this month, following the fatal shooting of two teenagers, some residents blamed HiMOs as the cause of a lot of the estate's troubles, with some claiming up to 18 people at any one time can be living together.

One resident at the meeting said: "Fishermead is not just in crisis because of the murders, there are people living here 18 to a house.

"Because of the amount of young men living together it means they are hanging around in alleyways and on corners with no jobs and they can't integrate into the community."

Youth info group joins forces with counsellors

A CITY youth service will have a new base from Friday.

The Milton Keynes Youth Information Service (YIS) will resume operations from the City Counselling Centre (CCC) as one of its member organisations.

YIS offers confidential counselling, support and information to young people between the ages of 13 and 25.

It has been working with young people for 25 years and can help with all kinds of issues including health, emotional problems and benefits.

YIS chairman Tony Woolf said: We are delighted to work in partnership with the CCC, an organisation with 20 years experience in the field of counselling.

If you come to YIS for help and want to talk to someone, our trained counsellors will listen, offer support and help you work out your feelings so that you can decide what you want to do.

To contact YIS, call the co-ordinator Gillian on 0795 795 5027 or 01908 604700. Gillian is based for part of the week at the CCC, with counselling taking place in bespoke rooms.

Marathon to shrink runners' footprint

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

THE city's green credentials have been getting a big boost over the last few weeks.

On Wednesday, the newest addition to the city's sporting calendar was launched, with the Milton Keynes Marathon, which is being advertised as the 'green' marathon, taking place on Sunday, April 29, next year.

As well as the scenery runners will get to enjoy on the 26.2-mile route, starting and finishing at stadiummk and taking in Willen and Caldecotte Lakes, recyclable cups and bottles and a paper free, online booking system will also add to the environmentally friendly credentials.

The launch comes after the news that thecentre:mk was named in the country's top 60 green companies.

Ranked number 15 in The Sunday Times list last month, the shopping centre was credited for achieving Government recycling goals four years ahead of its 2012 target, with a carbon footprint drop of 12 per cent.

Centre director Robert Hall said: "We were incredibly honoured to be so highly recognised by The Sunday Times best green companies, ranking so highly and being the only shopping centre in the UK recognised in the list.

BAM construction site at Network Rail headquarters

"2011 has been an interesting year for the centre's sustainability projects – we flooded our centre management offices with various ways of reducing our carbon footprint and moving into 2012, we look forward to expanding on these exciting projects in line with our evolving retail landscape."

Also in the list at number 14 was BAM Construct UK, which is building the new Network Rail National Centre next to Central Milton Keynes railway station.

RISING STAR: Leyna Roy regional winner in the young writer of the year competition

Leyna's adventure tale wins Young Writer title

BY ADAM GRINSELL
adam.grinsell@mk-news.co.uk

A FUTURE novelist has beaten 350 other children from the city to be named the region's young writer of the year.

Ten-year-old Leyna Roy, from Two Mile Ash, and who is a pupil at Milton Keynes Prep School, was selected as part of the Explore Learning National Young Writer of the Year competition, which was announced on Friday, June 17.

The theme of the competition was adventure stories, and Leyna's winning entry was chosen by Alan Durant, the award-winning children's author of Bad Boyz and Spider McDrew.

Leyna's story was about a girl, whose parents owned an animal centre, that was taken on a journey to Africa to rescue orphans by a magical hamster.

She said: "My mum told me I had won on the way back from school, and I felt really happy and a bit surprised.

"I enjoy reading more than writing, things like Enid Blyton books, but I'll probably start doing more writing now."

She will now be awarded a trophy, medal and certificate.

The competition is organised annually by Explore Learning, a national network of tuition centres across the UK for five to 14-year-olds.

Now in its third year running, the competition aims to encourage and inspire children to have the confidence in picking up a pencil, pen or crayon and in 500 words write the most imaginative fiction or non-fiction, theme-based story, and is believed to be the largest writing competition for children in the UK.

Questions & Answers
Watch the BBC News Report video on www.HSsolar.co.uk

Q. What's the catch? How can I have a £15,000 Solar Panel installation completely free of charge?
A. There is no 'catch'. The answer is very simple. We would like to rent some of your roof space because the Electricity Supplier will pay us for the electricity generated from the Solar panels which you don't use. You will be paid (in the form of FREE electricity) for allowing us to install the Solar panels on your roof and we will be paid by the Electricity Supplier for the energy you don't use - it's as simple as that!

Q. Would installing Solar panels effect the saleability or effect the value of my property?
A. YES! your property will be EASIER to sell and installing Solar panels will INCREASE the value of your property! If you have a mortgage, we have to obtain written consent from the Mortgage Lender before we can install the panels.

Do you know anyone who would not want to have FREE electricity?
The Mortgage Lenders also do not know of anyone who would NOT like to have FREE electricity which is why they are agreeing to free Solar panel installations. They also realise installing solar panels, generating clean, free electricity, would be an asset to the property.

Q. I thought Solar panels only work in the summer. Is this true?
A. No, it is not true. Solar panels generate FREE electricity ALL YEAR ROUND come rain or shine. The panels only need light to work.

Q. How much will I reduce my electricity bills by?
A. Delighted customers are reporting up to a 70% reduction in their electricity bills.

Q. What happens if I sell the property? A. The new owner simply inherits the FREE electricity.

The COMPLETE installation, including the Solar Panels, all parts & components is FREE OF CHARGE!
There is no catch, there is NOTHING for you to pay - you will simply receive FREE electricity. It is not possible to make this any clearer.

Park transformation receives international recognition

A CITY development has landed yet another prestigious award – this time on the world stage.

Places for People, the company behind the already multi-award-winning Wolverton Park, has beat competition from Italy, Austria, Saudi Arabia and Turkey to win the Urban Land Institute's 2011 Award for Excellence for the Europe, Middle East and Africa regions.

The awards, which were held last Wednesday, recognise the full development process of a project, not just its architecture or design, and are widely recognised around the world as the highest accolade for creative and sustainable land use.

David Cowans, chief executive of Places for People, said: "We're very proud of what Places for People has done at Wolverton Park and it is a real boost when an organisation as important as the Urban Land Institute recognises the quality of what has been achieved here."

Wolverton Park was formerly an engineering centre with facilities for working on carriages and steam locomotives and was also the base for the Royal Train. It has now been transformed into modern homes, while keeping the best of the old brick and iron industrial structures.

The transformation has already been well received in the industry, picking up awards from a host of different bodies including What House?, the London Evening Standard and the National Railway Heritage Awards.

Mr Cowans added: "It's always great to be recognised by your peers. The award will bring Milton Keynes, and Wolverton Park in particular, to the attention of a lot of people in the industry both here and abroad, so it really is very exciting."

Pupils share backpack raffle donation with another school

THESE lucky children at Greenleys First School have been given backpacks by a city company.

Costco, the cash and carry warehouse in Kingston, held an event for headteachers at which the school won a raffle.

But the generosity does not end there – the school, which has pupils between the ages of four and seven, will share their prize with another first school.

Headteacher Sue Harrington said: "We really appreciate the generosity of Costco. Our children are delighted with the backpacks and all the children will receive one at the end of the term.

"We are sharing them with Oldbrook First School because we have been given 300 backpacks and we have about 150 children here. We wanted to make sure other children can benefit from the donation as well."

Costco warehouse manager Steve Bailey said: "We try and give back to the local community as much as possible and we try to give them out to local schools."

BREAK 4 LOVE 2011

Raze

I KNOW what you're thinking. They've slapped the year on the end of the song title, therefore I'm going to say this is rubbish.

Yeah, well, you're right and it is. If you gave most other remixers this song to play with they'd probably treat it with the utmost respect.

Why's that, then? Well, the original is something of a classic.

Usually, if you're out clubbing and the DJ wants to calm things down a little, he or she will pop something a bit slower and mellower on.

Break 4 Love doesn't quite work like that, though; it's fast-paced but the way it plays out suggests to the listener that perhaps, after five solid hours of dancing, it's time to chill out before your feet fall off.

The tune comes in gradually, the singing is understated and everything about it is designed to make you and your other half consider the possibility that perhaps some time together somewhere a bit quieter would be a very good idea.

If it had been around in the 1970s, Barry White would've sold his granny to do this song.

However, this is 2011 and the remixer's motto nowadays seems to be 'If it ain't broke, I didn't hit it hard enough.'

Almost everything that was good about the original has gone, to be replaced by a commercial drum and bass nightmare that somehow manages to spectacularly miss the point of the original in every possible way.

Even the vocals, which used to fit perfectly, now sound like they came from another song altogether... which they did.

It's so bad it makes the recent Personal Jesus update sound good.

DON'T WANNA GO HOME

Jason Derulo

IN CASE you have any doubts as to who's singing, Jason Derulo helpfully namechecks himself at the start.

Or you could look at the file-name of the track. Probably easier that way, really.

To be fair, you'd be entitled to be a little confused about whose song this actually is, seeing as the tune is based on Robin S's Show Me Love, with Mr Derulo occasionally singing lyrics from Day-O (The Banana Boat Song). Little wonder he wanted to stamp his identity over the proceedings.

As pop songs go, this is passable, but calling it an original work would be stretching things a bit.

REPERKUSSION

Saturday, 8pm

JEROEN Snik, aka Icicle, is recognised as one of the most technically advanced and highly-respected producers in electronic music.

Mastering tech-funk better than any other, Icicle's music is graceful yet daring and, without doubt, technically remarkable.

It is tinged with intricate drum patterns reminiscent of Photek and entrancing, enveloping basslines reminding of Jonny L and Optical.

After commanding the attention of the masses with releases on labels such as Shogun Audio, Soul:R, Renegade Hardware and Critical, Icicle made the move from Holland to London in 2008.

'Spartan', Icicle's debut on Shogun, broke a musical mould and securely positioned his elaborate engineering skills on the proverbial map.

With bookings all over the world 'Mr Freeze's' sound ventures have kept the listeners eagerly anticipating his every release, prompting the Cold Fear EP on Shogun Audio in 2009 featuring a collaboration with Noisia.

Icicle's futuristic dubstep has been fervently received on a global scale and caused groundbreaking responses from the dubstep world.

See him perform with a host of other drum 'n' bass talent including DEFine and Mark S, as well as MCs K-Nyne and Choppa D.

GARDEN CENTRE

THE Wyevale Woburn Sands Garden Centre is holding a Rose Festival in celebration of Britain's favourite flower.

Kicking off on Sunday and running until July 17, the festival will give gardeners the chance to learn about caring for the flowers, and there will even be a competition to name a new rose which will be exclusively stocked by the centre and its partners.

Dominic Wright, manager of the Newport Road centre, said: "We wanted to hold a fortnight dedicated to roses to give people interested in them the chance to find out more."

The festival is one of a series of free events being organised throughout the year on a number of different gardening topics.

MK GALLERY

THE Gareth Jones exhibition closed at MK Gallery on Sunday and the pace of work to refresh the building exterior picks up this week.

Although partly hidden by scaffolding, the Gallery Shop, which plays a vital role in generating income to support its exhibition and learning programmes, will remain open for exhibition catalogues, visual art magazines and a number of limited edition prints produced exclusively for MK Gallery.

Bradwell Abbey-based Signarama is project managing the exterior changes, which involves hand-painting three bold graphic designs onto the face of three sides of the building.

Bespoke mural artist Sarah Hodgkins and her assistant will be praying for cloudless, windless skies as they scale the scaffolding and work meticulously to deliver the design in time for the opening of MK Gallery's new exhibition on Thursday, July 7.

The painted scheme has been conceived by Sara De Bondt, the designer responsible for the gallery's recent rebrand.

Each facade will be covered with different sized, single-coloured squares, (one wall red, one, yellow, one green), with different permutations of either solid, hatched or dotted finishes.

Looking to the future: A graphic design of what one of the walls at MK Gallery will look like once work to refresh the building is complete

These graphics represent enlarged versions of the gallery's visual identity, evident on its new website - www.mkgallery.org.

This project follows a series of radical transformations of the gallery's building exterior in recent years, including Michael Craig-Martin's Surfacing mural - a commission that marked the Gallery's fifth anniversary, the Richard Woods Flora & Fauna commission (summer 2008) and the Gilberto Zorio commission (2008/09).

Anthony Spira, MK Gallery's director, said: "We expect the project to be completed in time for the launch of our next exhibition, New Art MK: Eight Artists from Milton Keynes. We invite everyone to join us for this celebration at 6pm on July 7."

MILTON KEYNES THEATRE

SHAUN'S BIG SHOW

Thursday-Sunday, July 7-10

THE 2010 EMMY and BAFTA award-winning BBC family favourite, Shaun the Sheep, will be making its stage debut in a brand new live production, Shaun's Big Show.

Shaun is stage-struck and has decided to put on a very special show for all his friends - there'll be some madcap mayhem ahead as they dance and prance their way through a series of adventures under the nose of the short-sighted Farmer.

When the Flock accidentally discover the joys of dance Shaun is inspired, in true Mickey Rooney style, to put on his own show in the barn with inspiration from none other than the Farmer, who has been watching episodes of Strictly Come Dancing and decides to teach himself how to tango.

This show promises to be great all-round entertainment for the whole family and is not to be missed.

DIVERSEARTSLIVE!

CALLING all semi-professional artists

How would you like to perform at MK Theatre?

After the giant success of the Diversity Ball over the past years, DiverseArtsLIVE! will be held at Milton Keynes Theatre in September and auditions will be taking place on Saturday and July 9 and 23 at the Ramada Encore.

The event, staged by MK Equality Council (MKEC), is hoping to give all sections of the community an opportunity to showcase their talents in an evening that promises to be a unique non-stop two-and-a-half hours of entertainment by exceptional undiscovered artists working alongside some of the biggest names in the industry.

MKEC says that when they talk to young people, through their outreach work in communities, they are told there is nothing for them to do. It has also noticed there is an extraordinary amount of talent in Milton Keynes and it wants to hear from these individuals.

To be part of the one night show on Sunday, September 18 all artists must book an audition slot via Navritaa@mkequalitycouncil.org.uk.

They must also download audition forms from www.mkequalitycouncil.org.uk.

COWPER AND NEWTON MUSEUM OLNEY

THE Cowper and Newton Museum in Olney has decided to display one of the more unusual items in its collection at the end of each month until the end of this year, in order to reveal the intriguing history behind some of the pieces it has to show the public.

Fascinating stories will be told during this changing exhibition, which will expose the reasons why William Cowper, the leading poet of his day, owned such weird and wonderful objects.

This month there is a chance to find out about a cameo ring he owned.

Why did the man famous for living a domesticated life among the ladies, winding wool for them and reading to them, own a ring depicting Omphale, a legendary queen who bought Hercules as her slave, dressed him as a woman and had him wind wool for her?

CASTLETHORPE

OPEN GARDENS

Saturday-Sunday 11-4pm.

THE charming village of Castlethorpe is hosting its second Open Gardens event this weekend.

The preparations for the Scarecrow Trail are shaping up ready for a great family weekend offering tasty homemade cream teas and Ploughman lunches in the village hall and an opportunity to visit the beautiful church and school, both of which are open all weekend to visitors.

Tickets, which cover both days and include a free historical guide to the village, are available from the car park and the village hall.

They cost £5 or £12 for a family.

NATIONAL BOWL

THE Foo Fighters are quite simply one of the biggest bands on the planet and they are ready to rock in Milton Keynes.

Established by former Nirvana drummer Dave Grohl, the five piece group are nothing short of a global phenomenon.

Anyone lucky enough to be in attendance at the National Bowl on either Saturday or Sunday will experience a show that they are never going to forget - this is going to be quite special.

It is the first UK show for the Foos since 2008's record breaking two night stint at Wembley Stadium and you'll be hard pressed to get a ticket at this stage, such is the demand to see the American rockers in action.

Following in the footsteps of bands such as The Prodigy, Oasis and Green Day who have also rocked the Bowl in recent years, the Foos have no shortage of hits in their back catalogue.

Fans can expect to hear classics such as Learn to Fly, Times Like These, Monkey Wrench, Breakout, Best of You and The Pretender as well as tracks from the most recent album Wasting Light.

Expect energy, excitement, spellbounding guitar riffs, infectious drum beats and a ringing in your ears that will last for days afterwards.

Grohl picked up an award for being a 'godlike genius' earlier in the year, and although this sounds over the top, he could be one of the few musicians deserving of such a title.

Supporting the Foos at their first ever MK shows will be Scottish rockers Biffy Clyro on both days, Death Cab For Cutie and Tame Impala on Saturday, and Jimmy Eat World and The Hot Rats on Sunday.

Bob Mould has now been confirmed as special guest DJ for both days.

TASTE LIFE

IF YOU think you've tasted everything there is to taste when it comes to takeaways, think again.

Percys offers home delivery food like you've never seen before, so give your taste buds a treat and give it a try.

The idea is such a good one that it's a surprise it hasn't already been done: barbecued food delivered straight to your door.

Just thinking about food cooking on the grill is enough to get most people's mouths watering, but the standard of the fare at Percys is way above what you would expect on your mate's patio on a sunny afternoon in August.

This is properly cooked food using only the best local meats, prepared in an authentic American style.

Delights include the Chorizo Chicken Breast, which was cooked beautifully and packed full of flavour.

Tasty treat: The hand pulled pork flatbread is just one of the dishes delivered by Percys

The hand pulled pork flatbread is also delicious, with tender pork complimenting superbly with Percys' wonderful home made BBQ sauce.

Side orders are also available, with the home fries particularly tasty.

Dip them into a pot of the unbelievably addictive sweet mayo and you could have a meal in itself, but there's so many treats to try that you have to be careful not to stuff yourself.

Leave room for dessert in particular, the Chocolate Whoopie Pie is like a soft, creamy Oreo and is a dream for anyone with a sweet tooth, and the vanilla cheesecake is melt in the mouth perfection.

This is restaurant quality food to your door, so if they deliever to your area give it a go at www.percys-delivered.co.uk.

HEART FM COLUMN

HEART breakfast show presenters Stuart and Natalie wake you up each weekday morning and write to you each week in MK NEWS.

A Hollywood beauty shattered the illusion of being a Diva this week. We spoke to Cameron Diaz, who was more than happy to walk up four flights of stairs after the lift broke down.

She was in town to promote her new movie Bad Teacher. In it she plays a teacher (Elizabeth Halsey) who really doesn't like her job and Cameron explained why she had so much fun playing her.

"I never have to apologise for any of the horrible things she's said or done," she said.

Cameron is also reunited with her ex Justin Timberlake, who plays her assistant.

She told us what happened in their 'kiss' scene, "We tried to recreate the least sexiest sex scene ever created on film and Justin makes these faces and noises that I don't think any other man would have the courage to do." We didn't go into details about the noises.

There's no doubt Cameron looks amazing, she told us she's been modelling since school but also admitted she's not got a sweet tooth saying "I just want fried foods all the time."

Also looking gorgeous is Ryan Reynolds, starring in The Green Lantern and just voted the World's Sexiest Man.

His routine gets a bit much though. "Sometimes I'm in the gym at 3am, it's hard work," he said.

We feel your pain Ryan and that's just looking in the mirror at that time in the morning.

Finally, we're just days away from the big summer concert at the stadiummk where JLS, Olly Murs and Alexis Jordan are all performing on July 8. We got a sneak preview of the show last weekend and you are not going to be disappointed.

Stuart and Natalie present Heart Breakfast Monday to Friday from 6am-10am on Heart 103.3FM.

COMPETITION

FANCY a great night out courtesy of The Silk Road restaurant and MK NEWS?

The Silk Road restaurant, in Grafton Gate East, is where you can experience a magnificent variety of cuisine from some of the lands situated on the famous 'Silk Road', one of history's most important trading routes.

The story of the Silk Road stretches back to the Han Dynasty when diplomatic missions were sent from their capital at modern day Xi'an to the tribes and kingdoms of Central Asia.

A network of roads and sea routes stretched from China to the Mediterranean and silk and many other goods were exchanged.

The Silk Road still exists and, although no longer so important for world trade, many of its routes continue to be used.

The Silk Road restaurant reflects the heritage and national diversity in the cuisines on offer on the route. This, combined with the friendly helpful service, makes for a truly memorable experience of Asian cuisine.

We are offering not only a banquet meal for four people with a glass of Champagne, but also VIP entry to Milton Keynes' premier nightspot Oceana with a free limosine transfer between the two venues.

To be in with a chance of winning just answer this question: In which dynasty was The Silk Road first used? Send your entries, along with your name, address and contact details, to competition@mk-news.co.uk, or MK NEWS, 1 Diamond Crt, Fox Milne, MK15 0DU by Wednesday, July 6.

The editor's decision is final and the winner, who must be18 or over, will be notified.

SWIMMING POOL NEWS

The good news is that major investment is planned for our swimming pool this summer, thanks to MK Council and Salix:

- New air handling – to improve heating and air quality and is much more energy efficient
- New ceiling and lighting – a better environment for all swimmers
- New fire alarm and emergency lighting

However, the bad news is that the pool will not be available from Monday 04 July for 11 or 12 weeks. We apologise for the inconvenience but when money becomes available, we have to grab the opportunity so that we can all have the benefit of the pool for years to come.

GET FIGHTINGFIT

Summer's here and the time is right for dancing in the street! Which is one very good way of getting fit and having fun at the same time.

But if the neighbours won't join in (and you don't want them to start talking) you are just going to have to find a work-out routine that feels comfortable to you.

It's a good idea to list all the reasons why you want to shape up. Is it that you want to look good and feel comfortable when you're on the beach? Do you want to have the energy to dance 'til dawn? Or is it that, when the five a side football season starts up again you want to show your mates that you've got the staying power to smash the opposition?

If the ultimate goal is feeling fitter and looking better then you can be well-pleased if the by-product is losing weight. But don't get hung up on the pounds and ounces; instead, look at your shape and ask yourself whether your clothes feel looser.

Start from the bottom up. If you have got the right footwear, whether you are road-running, salsa dancing or playing tennis, then your feet will be supported and comfortable. Once the shoes are right it really doesn't matter whether you've got the stretchy, matching Lycra combo or an old t-shirt and shorts; put the effort into what you do not how you look.

The gym is not for everyone but just remember, if you have signed up, that little and often is more achievable and ultimately better for you than the guilt you feel if all your good intentions of going five times a week fly out the window after the first three sessions.

Walking is a great way to keep your cardiovascular system in good health. The British Heart Foundation recommends taking an average of 10,000 steps a day. It sounds like a lot but even by striding out for just 30-60 minutes a day you can burn off as many as 400 calories an hour. But keep it lively - strolling round the supermarket in your lunch hour is not going to give you the desired effect.

Swimming, as every little fish knows, is good for you. Once upon a time, long before i-pods, i-pads and i-phones our scaly ancestors spent their days splashing around. So it comes as no great surprise that swimming is an activity that still exercises almost every muscle in our humanoid bodies - and, let's face it, it's fun! What more can you ask of a summer fitness programme?

SUNSHINE EATING

You can spend the summer in a tent - not camping but wearing one - or you can decide to do something about shedding those extra pounds that have crept up on you over the winter.

We discuss our waistlines more now than at any other time in history but statistics show that more than half of all women and two thirds of all men in the UK are overweight or obese.

So what can we do, at this late stage, to prepare for the beach and the barbecue parties?

If you are determined to diet then find one that suits you - your lifestyle, your likes and dislikes and your budget. There's no point cutting out every naughty little thing if you are going to be miserable all summer long.

Drink more. No, we're not suggesting you down a jug of sangria every lunchtime; water is the stuff of life itself - quite literally. Our bodies are made up of between 50 and 70 per cent water and, hard though it is to believe, every day we lose around two litres of H2O through perspiration alone. Water is essential to maintain the healthy operation of almost all internal organs. If you're feeling pangs of hunger it could actually be thirst; try drinking a glass of water before you tuck into the crisps or cakes and sipping a glass of water with a meal can also reduce your appetite.

When the weather is hot salads and fruit become more appealing so think seasonal and think fresh and you'll start to feel - and look - better. As for the amount we eat, the portions that we consume have, on average, grown by more than 30% per cent over the past ten years, both in restaurants and at home. Even the plates that we eat off have got bigger - and we are piling the food up on them. So it makes sense to use smaller plates and fill them up with mostly green vegetables or salad. And, much as it may grieve you to leave food on your plate, if you've had enough, just stop eating.

SUMMER MAKE-UP TRENDS

It seems like only yesterday when the rain was bucketing down and the temperature barely rose above freezing

But summer is here and you haven't even dusted off your flip-flops.

Relax, this is the one time in the year when you can afford to chill out and look hot at the same time.

However natural the 'pale and interesting' look might be, when the strappy dresses or the swimming shorts come out, there is no doubt that a little bit of colour gives a healthy glow - and more than a little bit of sex appeal. But how do you get that golden glow without passing through the overcooked lobster stage and what about the dangers of developing skin cancer and premature ageing from too much of a good thing?

THE ANSWER IS: FAKE IT.

Applying tanning products at home is fraught with difficulties - not least the 'tabby' effect or streaking and the difficulty of reaching the parts that, unless you are a contortionist by trade, you'll never manage to cover. Safer by far to book into a reputable tanning studio. You can look as though you've just come back from the South of France without having to fork out for the fare or fry like a fillet of fish.

Get used to taking better care of your skin by applying exfoliants and moisturisers in the summer months and it will be easier to keep up the habit all year round.

Eyelash and eyebrow tinting is a real salvation when you're off on holiday or if you have very light coloured hair. The treatments use a permanent dye to colour the lashes and brows to a natural hue. After the treatment is complete you can apply mascara or leave them 'au naturel' to show off the colour.

If there's still time, take a hair, nails and skin multivitamin supplement for four weeks before you go. For pretty hands and feet instantly, a manicure or pedicure is a wonderfully relaxing way to get into the holiday spirit - just remember to take a good nail oil away with you to keep them healthy and hydrated. If you are holidaying at the beach, walk barefoot in the sand; it's excellent exercise for all the muscles of the feet and calves and the sand will provide a mild exfoliation for the soles of the feet.

As for the rest of your body, stay groomed with a few basic essentials. Lavishly scented body creams and lotions can double as fragrances on holiday, scenting and softening the skin in one lazy go - because isn't that what holidays are all about?

SUMMERHAIRCARE

Protecting our skin against the sun's harmful rays is second nature to us now. But when did you last lavish a little summertime TLC on your hair?

That holiday combination of sun, sea and sand is so very tempting: chlorine, wind and dust less so but all of those elements will suck the vitality out of your hair making it dry and brittle, fading out the colour and reducing shine and volume.

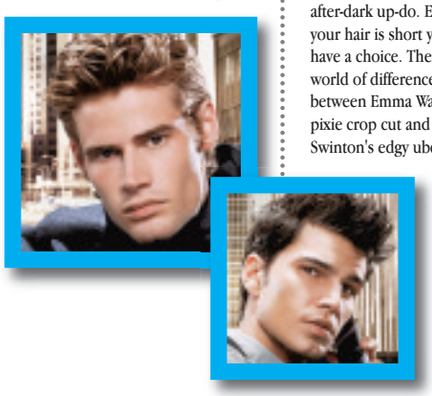
Nourish it by using a sunscreen designed to condition and put back the lost moisture. Exposure to the sun will cause natural bleaching - nice, if you're mousey or dark blonde to start with. But darker shades can become dull and if your hair is coloured it could end up looking as dry and straggly as straw. Even more good reason to protect your hair with a sunscreen product.

Don't fancy protecting the top of your head with a 1950's style knotted hanky? Fair enough but hats and caps with visors not only guard against damage to your hair they also keep the sun off your face and out of your eyes. Just make sure that your hair is dry before you put on a hat or you risk damaging it.

If you love to spend as much time in the sea or pool as you do on the sunlounger, rinse your hair with fresh water to eliminate chlorine and salt when you come out. Avoid tangles by applying a no-rinse conditioner after swimming using a wide-toothed comb with rounded ends. Your hair will need washing daily to get all the sand and salt out of it but use a gentle shampoo in warm water rather than hot and let it dry naturally.

FORHIM

It's not quite anything goes but messy cuts, cropped styles, even a semi-mohawk will see you fashionably through this summer. Get the barber, your razor or a pair of electric clippers to trim the wild and woolly growth that sprouts on the back of your neck. Waxing is even more effective - but ouch-making!



FORHER

In 2011 plaits are pretty while pony-tails, tied on the nape of the neck with a slightly crooked centre parting, are the celebrity look of the season. Sharpen up the parting and slick down those tresses for a sophisticated after-dark up-do. Even if your hair is short you still have a choice. There's a world of difference between Emma Watson's pixie crop cut and Tilda Swinton's edgy uber-style.

MILTON KEYNES COUNCIL
EXPRESSIONS OF INTEREST FOR
PROVISION OF A BASIC FOOT CARE SERVICE

Milton Keynes Council is seeking expressions of interest for organisations to tender to set up and provide an ongoing basic foot care service in the Borough of Milton Keynes.

Foot problems, such as painful feet, impair balance and functional ability and increase the risk of trips and falls. This service will provide basic foot care in order to improve people's quality of life by supporting independence, mobility, socialisation and associated mental well being.

The service will be for older people and people with a physical and/or learning disability, who do not have clinical foot care needs, but who are unable to cut their own toe nails or have no carers or family support to assist them. The service will be provided in a variety of accessible settings in the community, including people's homes when necessary.

The basic foot care service will include toenail cutting, skincare and checking for infection or other obvious early problems and recognising when further professional advice is needed.

It is expected that the new contract will commence in Jan 2012.

The contract will be for a period of 3 years and following the end of the contract it is intended that the Service will be able to achieve full cost recovery and increase capacity as demand for the service grows.

In order to express an interest in this tender, please go to Milton Keynes Council's e-tendering website: https://in-tendhost.co.uk/miltonkeynescouncil/, register your organisation, and then select "express interest". If you have any problems expressing interest, please e-mail eprocurement@milton-keynes.gov.uk or phone 01908-254688.

There will be an information event for organisations that have expressed an interest in this tender on Thursday 21st July, 2.00pm - 4.00pm in Milton Keynes Council, Civic Offices, 1 Saxon Gate East, Central Milton Keynes MK9 3EJ

Closing date for expressions of interest:
12.00 Noon on Wednesday 13th July 2011.

MORRANTS FOUR COUNTIES LEAGUE

Division One

THE crunch match between the division's top two went the way of leaders North Crawley who beat Milton Keynes City by six wickets to stretch their lead at the summit.

After electing to bowl, hosts North Crawley dismissed City for 191, with Dean Bryce's 4/31 the standout bowling figures.

Jason Loveland fell just two runs short of his half century and Asif Iqbal scored 30 but the target was never enough and North Crawley got home comfortably, largely thanks to James Armstrong's majestic 102.

Third place New Bradwell slipped up with a losing draw against Elstow, who posted 241/8 after being asked to bat.

Dave Riddle top scored with 67 but the second innings never kicked into gear, New Bradwell finishing on 135/6 for the draw.

Newport Pagnell saw off bottom club Studham by 33 runs despite Mick Page's 13 being the highest score from the top six in their order.

Gary Hefferon's unbeaten 59 saw Newport recover to 147/9, and Studham were then skittled for 114, Brian Schmidt finishing with remarkable figures of 6/12.

Milton Keynes CC demolished Biddenham by 145 runs at the Biddenham Pavilion ground.

Nick Hillman scored 75 with the bat in MK's total of 240, and the hosts slumped to just 95 all out.

Olney Town beat Eaton Bray by 62 runs in a crazy match at Town's home ground.

Eaton won the toss on a damp wicket and elected to field, and Olney were all out for only 99, Manny Barker taking 3/9.

Remarkably, Eaton were dismissed for just 37 in reply, with the top four in their order failing to trouble the scorers.

Olney used only two bowlers, with Stuart Keeping's 5/9 and Paul Smith's 5/13 doing the damage.

• The evergreen Phil Gammage claimed his first hat-trick, and figures of 7/21, as Wolverton 3rds beat Elstow 2nds by two wickets in Division Five.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE CRICKET LEAGUE

Premier Division

STONY Stratford comfortably saw off struggling Burton Latimer by 108 runs at Ostlers Lane.

Nick Allen's 78 was the top score in Stony's 247/8 which was always too much for their opposition.

Sharn Gomes, a star with both bat and ball this season, took 5/25 as Burton were dismissed for 139.

CHERWELL LEAGUE

Division One

BLETCHLEY Town lost by 43 runs at home to Oxford's second XI.

Mark Murfett grabbed 4/31 with the ball as Oxford made 141, but Bletchley could only manage 98 in response, Ward top scoring with 32.

MILTON KEYNES SUNDAY LEAGUE

Division One

STONY Stratford's Sunday XI saw off New Bradwell by seven wickets in a top of the table clash.

Three bowlers took three wickets as New Bradwell made 144, and Sainath Ravikumar's unbeaten 67 comfortably saw Stony home.

ICE HOCKEY

Forwards back for more action

Michael Wales, left, and Grant McPherson are the latest to sign on again with the Lightning. Pictures by Jez Tibbetts.

FORWARDS Michael Wales and Grant McPherson will be in the thick of the action for MK Lightning again next season, after the pair both agreed to stay on for the new campaign.

Both are known for their 'no-nonsense' style of play and for the character they add to the Lightning line-up, both on and off the ice.

Wales, known as Muzzy, has played the majority of his ice hockey in Milton Keynes since launching his career in 1999 and is now itching for the first face off of the season.

He said: "After the highs and lows of last year, I can't wait to get the new season started.

"Myself and the rest of the guys are determined to bring silverware back to Milton Keynes, to reward the best fans in the league.

"Narrowly missing out on winning the play-off final in Coventry has only made us more determined, so we'll be fighting hard for every trophy next year."

Twenty-four-year-old McPherson moved to Lightning in 2006 and is also aiming to win trophies in 2011/12.

"Losing the play-off final was obviously disappointing but it makes us, as a team, hungrier to bring silverware back to Milton Keynes," he said.

"I'm very happy to continue being part of this team, I love the way we play, and we have such a great group of guys all wanting to work for each other."

Player-coach Nick Poole welcomed the pair back to the club.

He said: "Grant plays with heart and passion every night and has become a fan favourite for his 100 per cent commitment and aggressive style.

"Muzzy brings a lot to the table when we take to the ice and he's a very versatile player, we played him on every line last year and he always played his role, bringing grit and energy to the unit he was playing with."

Meanwhile, junior netminder Jordan Hedley has been picked to represent Great Britain at the IIHF Hockey Development Camp in Finland.

The 14-year-old already stands at six feet, two inches, and intends to make the most of his opportunity.

FORMULA ONE

Former champions say that the title is all but Vettel's

TWO former F1 World Champions have conceded that they have little hope of catching the seemingly unstoppable Sebastian Vettel.

The Red Bull driver extended his lead at the top of the standings to 77 points on Sunday by winning the European Grand Prix in Valencia – his sixth win of the season.

After the race, Fernando Alonso and Lewis Hamilton ruled out their chances of stopping the German this season, although the Brit did quickly perform a U-turn to insist that he would still battle for the championship.

Vettel's nearest rival, second placed Jenson Button, was forced to settle for sixth and as a result the Red Bull man's lead is now looking unsurmountable after just eight races of the season.

The reigning World Champion led from start to finish and shrugged off memories of the last Grand Prix in Canada, where a mistake on the last lap allowed Button in for victory.

Vettel said: "From the outside, I'm not sure if it seemed much was happening in the race, but I enjoy it so much when it's between you and the car on every single lap.

"Of course, I had pressure from behind, especially as the strategy was a little bit different with Mark Webber and Fernando – sometimes they were pitting earlier and sometimes later.

"I had a gap before the first pit-stop, but I came out very close to them, so again I had to push hard while judging the tyres and trying to imagine what the end of the stint might be like.

"We managed to come here and have a faultless weekend, I'm obviously very happy with the result."

Fellow Red Bull driver Mark Webber came home in third after starting second on the grid.

He battled with Alonso throughout and the Spaniard edged out the Australian to claim the runner's up position.

Red Bull boss Christian Horner described Vettel as a 'perfectionist' after the Valencia masterclass.

He said: "Sebastian drove an immaculate race and consolidated his lead.

"It was a fantastic team performance with first and third and we got a lot of points."

BASEBALL

MK BUCKS are a step closer to the AA Midlands League title after back to back away victories over second-placed Birmingham Maple Leafs.

Extra innings were needed in the first game but when Jarrod Pretorius struck a huge home run there was no way back for Birmingham, Bucks winning it 9-7.

The second game was a lot more one-sided, the Bucks scoring seven in the first inning alone as the Leafs shuffled their line-up.

Runs continued to come and the game was eventually won 21-9.

On Sunday, the Bucks host defending champs Leicester Blue Sox and have the chance to claim their title.

BASKETBALL

MK LIONS will be holding their first team trials on Saturday.

Chief executive Vince Macaulay said: "We have had an unprecedented volume of enquiries for players to play for the Lions.

"Next season is going to see a team challenging hard on the floor so Mike New and I felt it right to give an opportunity to those at home and abroad who have expressed an interest in playing for the Lions in 2011."

The trials will take place at the Bletchley campus of MK College.

BUCKS YOUTH GAMES

YOUNG athletes from Milton Keynes enjoyed an excellent weekend at the Bucks Youth Games.

The Milton Keynes athlete came home in 24.82 in the final.

There was also a gold medal for Jack Kee in the weight throw at the British Masters Track & Field Championships in Birmingham.

His winning distance was 17.35m.

BADMINTON

NATHAN Robertson and Jenny Wallwork's hopes of repeating their Singapore semi-final run in Jakarta were brought to an end in the second round of the Djarum Indonesia Open.

The MK based pair fell to Chinese top seeds Zhang Nan and Zhao Yunlei 21-16 21-15 but reaching the last four in Singapore means they have moved up four places to 11th in the world rankings.

Robbo eyes new faces

BY DAN PALMER
dan.palmer@mk-news.co.uk

KARL Robinson is aiming to win League One next season and wants four new signings to help him do it.

Former Sheffield Wednesday midfielder Darren Potter became the club's second new face of the summer last week and the Dons boss is lining up further swoops in the coming days.

However, he also admitted that the club 'can't keep saying no' if further bids come in from elsewhere for star men Sam Baldock and Stephen Gleeson.

Peterborough appeared to concede defeat after a £1.6 million move for both players was turned down, but Robinson said he didn't think interest in the pair would end.

He said: "They won't stop. It's our job to try and keep hold of these players, although we're talking about a lot of money.

"But I'm confident that we can keep one, possibly two of them."

Robinson will work with an 18 man squad next season, backed up by the club's up and coming youngsters, and a right-back, a left winger and a reserve goalkeeper are all on the shopping list.

A player who can 'excite the fans' is also on the manager's radar as the start of the new campaign looms closer.

Robinson said: "This is possibly the most exciting off-season that the club has ever had.

"We are all coming back ready and raring to go.

"I've got my targets and I have been on the phone between 8am and 11.30pm, it's been constant.

"I'm hoping that by the time of the Tottenham friendly I will be able to play the team I hope to start the season with."

Potter joined striker Dean Bowditch in arriving at the club and Robinson believes that he has added further quality to an already talented squad.

He said that loan deals are a possibility but a move to bring back winger Angelo Balanta, brought in on loan from QPR last season, appears to be dead in the water as the Columbian has opted for a move to the Championship.

Another target, Sheffield Wednesday right back Lewis Buxton, was given a tour of stadiummk but Robinson said the club were unable to afford him.

MK NEWS revealed that the former Stoke man, who was out of contract, was a Dons target but he has now agreed a new deal to stay at Hillsborough.

Robinson is targeting a goalkeeper who can compete with first choice David Martin, and no fewer than four stoppers will be arriving at the club on trial.

Meanwhile, Peter Leven is yet to agree a new deal to stay at the club, and speculation has linked him with a move away.

The manager, however, has committed himself to the club despite admitting that there had been interest in his services when various managerial jobs became vacant.

He said: "I said last season that I'm not looking to move on.

"I'm looking to become a better manager here.

"We're 14/2 to go up. Those are good odds, definitely."

Sean: It was time to leave

SEAN O'Hanlon has said that the end of the season was the right time for him to leave Milton Keynes.

The centre back was a rock in the heart of the Dons defence for five years but was told he could leave the club just one day after the play-off semi-final defeat to Peterborough.

He has now signed on with Scottish Premier League side Hibernian and the opportunity of a clean slate is something that appeals to the 28-year-old.

"I sat down with the manager after the Peterborough game, we shook hands and both decided it was time for a fresh challenge," he said.

"Hibs showed an interest and the opportunity of top flight football in Scotland was something I fancied.

"I'd been in Milton Keynes for five years and this was something new for me."

Despite wanting to move on, O'Hanlon looks back on his time at the club with fondness after being involved in much of the club's history.

He was part of the side that clinched the double in 2008, scoring against Grimsby at Wembley in the final of the Johnstone's Paint Trophy.

"Scoring that goal was the pinnacle of my career and something I'll never forget," O'Hanlon said.

"That season in general was a highlight, Paul Ince, a former England international, came in as manager and we won the league."

O'Hanlon, who played in three play-off campaigns, said that he had 'five good years' after leaving Swindon in 2006, but things ended on a sour note against Posh.

"My only regret was not getting the Dons into the Championship, as that was my goal," he said.

"But the play-offs are a lottery and the ref has made a big mistake in the first leg with the penalty."

Another low point of his Dons career was missing much of the 2009/10 campaign with a knee injury, but he was quick to thank the fans for sticking with him during that tough period.

He said: "They were brilliant to me. I just hope I made an impression that will be remembered for years to come."
